Exergen TemporalScanner

Nothing is as unsettling as a baby that's sick. Why add to your child's discomfort when you have to check their temperature using a traditional thermometer? The Exergen TemporalScanner is an infrared thermometer that reads your child's temperature in just two seconds. The choice of pediatricians and hospitals is now available for your home use. The TemporalScanner is amazingly accurate, capturing your child's temperature to within 0.2 degrees Fahrenheit. Simply press the button and lightly scan across the forehead. An LED light and beep indicates when it's done and the temperature shows on a clear LCD display. Don't guess if your child has a fever. Know for sure with the Exergen TemporalScanner.
